The MindSnack Corner

"Make Every Day A 10!"

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate your day, on average? Most of the people that I talk to about this subject, rarely have a day above a 5, and would be satisfied just to be able to say that their day was ok.

But how would you like to have every day be a 10? How would you like every single day to be the best day you've ever experienced? This may seem impossible, but in this MindSnack, I'm here to let you know that, not only is it possible, but also provide you with a formula to do just that! First things first, you have to know that you are the thermostat, and you set the temperature for the kind of day you have.

Now, I'm not saying that you aren't going to experience any challenges or obstacles. In fact, challenges are a sign that you are still living. We learn, and grow, through the challenges we face, so welcome them! Last week we talked about the thousand mile journey, and how it begins with a single step. Consider this formula one of those steps. First, get a regular spiral notebook and a journal. At the top of the first page, write the question, "What will make today a 10?" Underneath, answer the question write the top 10 things that MATTER to you, and will make today that day. Do this every morning when you wake up. Before you retire for bed, open your journal, and write about the top 10 things about the day. As you progress in this exercise, you will notice that the quality of your days have increased dramatically. This is the principle found in Hab 2:2. Write it out. Never begin your day until you have finished it first. You will begin to hear from others how awesome you are, and that is true! YOU ARE AWESOME! You HAVE BEEN AWESOME the entire time. You just recognize it now.
